Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

species I as a compressor with a supplementary torque providing part of fig 3A;
species II as a compressor with a supplementary torque providing part of fig 4A;
species III as a compressor with a supplementary torque providing part of fig 5A (having a coil spring);
species IV as a compressor with a supplementary torque providing part of an alternate to fig 5A, with a plate spring;
species V as a compressor with a supplementary torque providing part of an alternate to fig 5A, with at least more than 3 parts;
species VI as a compressor with a supplementary torque providing part of fig 6A;
species VII as a compressor with a supplementary torque providing part of fig 7A; species VIII as a compressor with a supplementary torque providing part of fig 8A; and species IX as a compressor with a supplementary torque providing part of fig 9A (with coil and plate springs).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner: species I is claimed by claim 4; species II is claimed by claim 5; species IV is claimed by claim 8; species V is claimed by claim 9; species VII is claimed by claims 12-15; species IX is claimed by claims 18-26.

The following claim(s) are generic: claims 1 and 2 are generic to all species; claim 3 is are generic to species I and II; claims 6 and 7 are generic to species III and IV; claims 10 and 17 are generic to species VI-VIII; and claims 11 and 16 are generic to species VI and VIII.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The common technical features of species I-V, VII and IX, with each other and with VI or VIII are found in WO 00/08325; and the common technical features of species VI and VIII with each other and with any one of the other species are found in Friedman et al; and therefore are not special technical features.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
